How do we protect your information?

We do not use vulnerability scanning and/or scanning to PCI standards. We only provide articles and information. We never ask for credit card numbers. We do not use Malware Scanning. Your personal information is contained behind secured networks and is only accessible by a limited number of persons who have special access rights to such systems and are required to keep the information confidential.

Who do we share your personal data with?

Our policy is not to share your data with any 3rd parties. This does not include website hosting partners and other parties who assist us in operating our website, conducting our business, or serving our users, so long as those parties are in compliance with GDPR principles. We may also release information when it’s release is appropriate to comply with the law, enforce our site policies, or protect ours or others’ rights, property or safety.

Do we use ‘cookies’?

Yes. Cookies are small files that a site or its service provider transfers to your computer’s hard drive through your Web browser (if you allow) that enables the site’s or service provider’s systems to recognise your browser and capture and remember certain information. For instance, we use cookies to help us understand and save a user’s preferences for future visits, such as remembering your email address when processing form fill requests for additional content. They are also used to help us understand your preferences based on previous or current site activity, which enables us to provide you with improved content and services. We also use cookies to help us compile aggregate data about site traffic and site interaction so that we can offer better site experiences and tools in the future.

You can choose to have your computer warn you each time a cookie is being sent, or you can choose to turn off all cookies. You do this through your browser settings. Since every browser is different, look at your browser’s Help Menu to learn the correct way to modify your cookies.

If users disable cookies in their browser:

If you turn cookies off, some web site features will be disabled that make your site experience more efficient and may not function properly.

3rd Party Advertising

We have implemented Google Display Network Impression Reporting. Google’s advertising requirements can be summed up by Google’s Advertising Principles. They are put in place to provide a positive experience for users. We, along with third-party vendors such as Google, LinkedIn and Facebook use first-party cookies (such as the Google Analytics cookies) and third-party cookies (such as the DoubleClick cookie) or other third-party identifiers together to compile data regarding user interactions with ad impressions and other ad service functions as they relate to our website.

Opting out:

Users can set preferences for how third-party vendors such as Google, LinkedIn and Facebook advertises to you using their settings page. Alternatively, you can opt out by visiting the Network Advertising Initiative Opt Out page or by using the Google Analytics Opt Out Browser add on.

How does our site handle Do Not Track signals?

We honour Do Not Track signals and Do Not Track, plant cookies, or use advertising when a Do Not Track (DNT) browser mechanism is in place.

What legal basis do we have for using your information?

For sales and information enquires it is necessary for our legitimate interests in order to be able to respond to your request. For clients, we may also rely on our processing being necessary to perform a contract for you, for example in contacting you. In order to conduct a full and proper recruitment process, it is necessary to have basic personal data.

What happens if you do not provide us with the information we request or ask that we stop processing your information?

If you do not provide personal data we may not be able to respond fully to your enquiry.

Do we make automated decisions concerning you?

No, we do not carry out automated profiling.

What rights do you have in relation to the data we hold on you?

By law, you have a number of rights when it comes to your personal data. Further information and advice about your rights can be obtained from the data protection regulator in your country. In the UK this will be through ico.org.uk .

We usually act on requests and provide information free of charge, but may charge a reasonable fee to cover our administrative costs of providing the information for:

- Baseless or excessive/repeated requests, or
- Further copies of the same information.

Alternatively, we may be entitled to refuse to act on the request. Please consider your request responsibly before submitting it. We'll respond as soon as we can. Generally, this will be within one month from when we receive your request but, if the request is going to take longer to deal with, we'll come back to you and let you know.

How will we contact you

We may contact you by phone, email or social media. If you prefer a particular contact means over another please just let us know.
